As a fellow leader in the disability community, you understand how important it is to stay current on the latest developments in this important work.

You know we're all in this together -- one big global disability rights community.

Inclusion Daily Express is the email news service that keeps disability rights advocates like us updated every day on what's happening in this worldwide movement.

We celebrate the spirit that drives people with disabilities and our allies to make the world a better place for everyone.

Inclusion Daily Express also looks at efforts to rid the world of discrimination, injustice, and other barriers that keep many of us from being fully included in neighborhoods, work places, schools, families, houses of worship and homes of our choice because of our differences.

We can help you keep your staff, management, board, and clientele updated the latest on improvements in community living, assistive technologies, accessible design, and changes in laws and attitudes empowering people with disabilities, plus stories and articles by more than a dozen disability reporters and columnists from Albuquerque to Belfast to Kuala Lumpur.
